

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

VOLXXI.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1899.

NO. 8

CUT PRICES ON OVERCOATS.

22 Men's fine Brown all wool Montanac stylish cut Overcoats, velvet collar; made and trimmed well; all sizes, 34 to 42, worth $16, very cheap at $7.50.

CUT TO $6.00.

19 Men's fine all wool Black Beaver Overcoats, sizes 34 to 38, best $10 Beaver coat ever sold.

CUT TO $7.50.

10 Men's fine all wool Black Beaver Overcoats, long and slim cut, sizes 34 to 42, cheap at $10.

CUT TO $7.00.

15 Men's light weight Overcoats, small sizes, 32 to 36, worth $6 to $12.

CUT TO $3.00.

20 Men's fine Black Clay Worsted Overcoats, 34 to 44, worth $10, cheap at $8.50.

CUT TO $7.00.

18 Men's heavy Storm Collar Black Irish Frieze double breasted short coat, 34 to 42, very cheap at $5.

CUT TO $3.75.

14 young Men's Black all wool Beaver Overcoats, 14 to 19 years, very cheap at $6.

CUT TO $5.00.

10 young Men's finest Black and Blue all wool Beaver, 14 to 19 years, worth $10.

CUT TO $7.50.

12 Men's Brown twill Covert Overcoat, 34 to 42, worth $7.50.

CUT TO $6.00.

10 per cent. discount on all the balance of our stock of overcoats.

J. H. Anderson & Co.

INVOICING OUR STOCK.

We have picked out all Odds and Ends, all broken lots of stock in

Our Shoe and Furnishings

and put prices on them that will move them out quickly. We are determined to clean out this stock, so

You will Save Money

By visiting our BARGAIN
COUNTER.

PETREE & COMPANY.

The BIG BOOT STORE

CROWDS TURN OUT

At Each Service of the Union Tabernacle Meeting.

Many Accepted the Invitation and Went Forward To Be Prayed For on Wednesday Night.

There has been no diminution in the attendance at the tabernacle meeting throughout the week.

Mr. Jones has delivered two of his characteristic discourses each day and Mr. Stuart has preached every afternoon at 3 o'clock.

On Wednesday evening Mr. Jones discussed the subject of sudden death and the address was to some extent a departure from his usual style. At the conclusion of the service an invitation was extended and a large number of people went forward to be prayed for.

The various pastors of the city are taking part in the meeting.

The song services are particularly enjoyable and a number of new songs have been introduced by Mr. Excel.

The morning service yesterday was not so largely attended as some of the previous meetings. However the house was comfortably filled, and the meeting was one of the best of the series.

The usual very large crowd was on hand at the night services.

FREE DELIVERY

Hopkinsville Will Soon Have a Free Postal Service.

Postoffice Inspector W. T. Fletcher was in the city this week to look into the matter of establishing free delivery in the city of Hopkinsville. His recommendation will be favorable and by July 1st the system will be in operation.

Mr. Fletcher accompanied by Postmaster Breathitt went over the city and located places for the 25 mail boxes to put in. There will be three carriers to start with.

It will be necessary for the council to make the numbering of the houses compulsory. The system of street numbers is already in operation and needs only to be completed and enforced. The street names are properly posted.

The three carriers to be appointed will receive $600 a year and they will be required to pass a civil service examination.

ROW AT CAKE WALK.

Two of the Participants Fined By Judge Cansler.

During the progress of a cake walk in Hubbardsville last Saturday night a difficulty arose between some of the visitors, which resulted in breaking up the entertainment. Will Bronough and John Williams were arrested and tried before Judge Cansler this week on a charge of disturbing a public gathering. Bronough was fined $7.50 and costs and Williams $5 and costs.

Bronough is suffering from a bad razor cut on the hip, which he received at the hands of some one in the crowd during the trouble. As he does not know who cut him no arrest could be made. The parties are all colored.

Administrator Appointed.

Mr. E. E. Wash, of Wallonia, has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late W. E. Ragsdale. Mr. Wash was also appointed guardian of the infant heirs of deceased.

Overseer Appointed.

Mr. C. M. Gray has been appointed overseer of the Lacy coal road from the Crofton and Princeton road to Flat Rock.

Geebel at Owensboro To-morrow.

Owensboro, Ky., Jan. 25.—Senator Wm. Goebel, candidate for Governor, will speak in Owensboro on January 28.

SKULL CRUSHED.

John Cannon, a Farmer, Killed

At Kelly.

Hit By a Wild Section of a Freight

Train on the L. & N.

Railroad.

John Cannon, a well known farmer living half a mile south of Kelly, was struck and instantly killed Wednesday evening by a south bound freight on the L. & N. railroad.

Mr. Cannon had two sons in the employ of the L. & N., one as a section hand and the other as a brakeman. He had walked up the track to Kelly to see one of his sons and was returning home when was about half way home when killed.

At that point there is a sharp grade and hearing the train approaching behind Mr. Cannon stepped aside and the train passed by. He then stepped back on the track and did not see an uncoupled portion of the train that was running wild a few yards behind. His back was to the approaching cars and he was struck with terrific force. He was evidently walking close to one rail, as one leg was cut off at the thigh and he was thrown 20 feet down an embankment and his skull crushed into a mass of blood and brains.

The coroner held an inquest yesterday, but had not reported when we went to press.

Mr. Cannon was a farmer about 55 years of age, Heleaves widow and four grown children, two married daughters in addition to the sons above mentioned.

DEATH OF SAM SLAUGHTER.

Expires at the Home of His Brother-in-Law.

Mr. Sam Slaughter died at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Jo Weil, near this city, yesterday morning, aged about 42 years. He had been a sufferer from some throat trouble for several months and a few weeks ago his lungs became involved, causing his death as above stated.

Mr. Slaughter was a brother of Mrs. J. M. Frankel of this city, and Messrs. Chas. Slaughter, of Rochester, Ky., and Ike Slaughter, of Louisville.

The remains will be taken to Louisville to-day for interment.

THREE IN JAIL.

Participants in Monday's Battle Behind the Bars.

Lee and Leslie Shipp, the two colored men who are charged with shooting with intent to kill Baldwin Pinner, col., near Julien Monday, were arrested and lodged in jail here Monday night. The examining trial will come up to-day. A warrant was also issued for Pinner and he was placed behind the bars.

PEMBROKE ELOPERS.

Popular Young People Drive Over to Clarksville and Marry.

Mr. Charles Wakefield, a popular young Pembroke farmer, and Miss Carrie Simmons, daughter of Mr. Gus Simmons, of the same neighborhood, drove through to Clarksville Tuesday night and were married Wednesday. They returned to their Kentucky home yesterday morning.

Only Two Pounds.

Mrs. Sam Baily, of Logan county, is the mother of a two-month-old boy, which weighs only two pounds, but is as healthy and lively as any child.

"Drys" Won.

The "drys" won the local option contest at Three Springs, Hart county, by a majority of 26.

J. T. Wall & Co's

Best Wishes
For a
Merry Christmas.

To our many friends we extend our thanks for the up to date season that we have had. Our trade so far this season has been greater than any previous season. This shows our goods were correct and our prices right. We got our goods in at the proprie time and our prices sold them. So it does not require any hambug advertisement these days. The people have learned that these big advertisements don't always mean good value.

What we advertise
Is just as we say.

There is no hambug about it, nor the way we got it, nor the way we sell it. Below are a few things that we have shut our eyes to the cost and put on our Job Tables. We will sell at these prices as long as they last.

Children's Jacket and Pants, ages 5, 6, 8 and 9. These goods are worth $3, $4 and $5, for	150
Men's Wool Mix Half Hose, the very thing you want for cold weather, worth 85c for	85c
Japonette Initial Handkerchiefs for	10c
30 dozen Men's and Boys' Linen Collars, worth 15c and 20c each, throw out at to per dozen	10c
Sizes 12, 12½, 14, 14½, 16, 16½, 17, 17½.
Children's Cotton Underwear, Shirts and Drawers; sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26 28 & 30; prices 6, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 & 30; a garment.	13c
Children's Rubbers, sizes 12 to 14½ price	10c
Children's 50c, 75c and $1.00	25c
Waist for
Children's Fancy Ribbed Underwear, satin faced, pearl buttons, sizes 36, 40, 42 and 44, worth 50c. (SEE OUR SHOW WINDOW) for	25c
Boys' Corduroy Knee Pant Suits, worth $3, for	2.25
Boys' Wool Mix Buckskin Gloves, worth 60c, for	25c

J. T. WALL & CO.

(Successors to Mammoth Clothing & Shoe Co.)

We sell the Genuine
Tripple-Kneed
"Leather Stockings"
for Boys and Girls.

Gant & Slayden

MONUMENTS!

Remember your home shop is the place to buy all Monuments, Tombstones and Cemetery Work. I buy direct at the quarry and sell direct to the buyer, saving you agents commission, extra freight and other expenses.

YOUR ORDER'S ARE SOLICITED.

ROBT. H. BROWN,
7th and Virginia Streets, Hopkinsville, Ky.

SHIP YOUR TOBACCO TO

Ragsdale, Cooper & Co.,

MAIN STREET TOBACCO WAREHOUSE,

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY,

R. E. COOPER, Salesman...

The wolf of all kinds, bowls at the doors of thousands of men who have to do and surround by death, the majority of cases, is starvation simple. It means that the body, bone, nerve, bone and sinew are insufficiently nourished. Improper, insufficient nutrition is the salvation.

With a man's head aches it is because the tissues of the brain do not receive sufficient nourishment from the blood, or receive enough and unhealthy nourishment. When a man has a headache and aches means that the blood is not properly nourishing the nerves. When his skin breaks out with rashes, boils, ulcers, and eruptions, it means that the skin is being fed upon the impurities of the blood. Almost every known disease is primarily due to improper nutrition through which which is the life stream. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the greatest of all discoveries. It gives a quick edge to the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the assimilation of the food perfect, stimulates the body to effect, invigorates the liver, promotes secretion and excretion, and vitalizes the whole body. It makes him muscular flesh, but does not make corpulence, fat and pale. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchial throat and heart affections, and all diseases that lead up to consumption. It is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. Kept by all physicians.

"I was taken ill in February, 1891, with headache and pain in my back," writes H. Gadis, of New York, and he gives three lines. He said I was bilious but kept getting worse. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medicine and was being propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got up and was in good skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I am now well of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it makes me feel well."

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never grip.

RECEPTION TO THE BRIDE.

Cordial Welcome to Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Kendall, at Waco.

The following account of a reception to Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Kendall, nee Florence Rives, is from a Waco, Tex., paper:

There were no cards issued, and yet more than two hundred paid their respects to the J. G. Kendall home on Tuesday afternoon, where the young son of the household, Mr. William Kendall, was spending a few days with his young Kentucky bride before making their final stop in Tyler. Beneath the environs of all that was beautiful in art and nature, there lay the consciousness that love was the keynote of all it. Love prompted the wooing and the winning of the sweet woman, without whose presence the affair would not have been, love prompted the nearest and dearest friends of the family to make all the preparations, and love prompted the hearty grasp of the hand and the sincerely expressed good wishes of the two hundred who laid their cards upon the salvers of their master Harold Gooch or Miss Mildred Smith, and passed into the parlor to greet the proud mother and husband and Mrs. William Kendall, the bride of only a few days. In this room there were also as assistant hostesses, Mrs. Hennie Harrison, Miss Margaretta Williams, of Kentucky, Mrs. E. A. McKenney, Miss Hallie Harrison, Mrs. Emma Humphreys, Mrs. John C. West and Mrs. A. McLendon. Beyond was the vista of pretty girls, the group being Misses Lizzie Speight, Margaret Kendall, Lalobel House, Pauline Carrington, Georgia Jenkins and McKenney. In the refreshment room Mrs. Minnie King and Mrs. Homer Wells presided at the coffee and chocolate urns, while Misses Kendall, Battle, Arnold and Humphreys acted as dainty little waitresses to serve a three course lunch. These three rooms ran riot with trailing vines, stately palms and cut blossoms; indeed, there was no vantage spot but what held its evidence that an affair of more than passing notice was in progress. The entire afternoon was consumed thus pleasantly for those who called, and doubly so for Mrs. J. G. Kendall, and Mr. and Mrs. William Kendall, who were thus reminded that in their happiness their friends coveted a share and that this, the firstmarriage in the family, should receive so marked a recognition of approbation. The sweet, unaffected manner of the young bride won all hearts, and in her Texas home, Waco especially, she has already endeared herself to each and every one who met her on Tuesday afternoon.

Ohio's Marriage-License Law.

The young people of the state of Ohio are evidently going to be in need of sympathy before the year is ended. This present month a state law went into effect regulating the issuance of marriage licenses, and according to that inquisitorial and oppressive measure a young man who applies for a licence must be equipped with all kinds of information regarding himself, his bride, their respective antecedents and their family histories. He must tell his bride's mother's maiden name and be able to give accurate information all around as to birthplaces, places of residences, occupations, previous matrimonial relations and minor personal details.

Already the law has brought some young couples into trouble. The bridegroom, hurrying to the license office on the last day before the wedding, has found that he didn't know where the bride was born or what was her mother's maiden name, and the license clerk coldly has refused to sanction the marriage. Weddings have been postponed indefinitely and heartstrings twisted and strained to the breaking point. It is not easy to say where the trouble will end. It is only too evident, however, that when a young man has left an eloping bride somewhere in town to wait while he hurriedly gets the official permit to marry finds that his plans are all frustrated simply because he can't remember where his bride was born he is going to become an enemy to society.

After this one of the elements of an Ohio romance will consist in the excitement of the chase after hidden family statistics. Lovers will no longer steal kisses or interviews—they will steal family registers and exercise their ingenuity in an adventurous chase after information. It is going to be thrillingly dramatic and exciting—but it will be surprising if young Ohio does not raise a protest which will make the next state legislature tremble in its shoes when it hears the demand for the repeal of the law—Chicago Record.

Thanking the Women.

The senate has passed a resolution tendering thanks of congress to Miss Clara Barton and the Red Cross society for their services in behalf of humanity during the late war, and several similar organizations for the relief of the soldiers think they are entitled to the same distinction. The Red Cross society is not a monopoly, any organization for the relief of suffering being entitled to bear that name and to protection in foreign land under the Geneva convention. There were several independent branches of the Red Cross at work during the war, but Miss Barton is so well known over the world that her society comes to mind when the name is mentioned.

The next most prominent was the Woman's Relief Association of New York, of which Miss Helen Gould was the moving spirit. Bishop Potter was president of the National Relief Association. The Massachusetts Volunteer Aid Society had its headquarters in Boston, and there were societies in nearly every city and in many towns for the aid of sick and needy soldiers which did great good, and representatives in congress from their respective localities think they are entitled to just as much credit as Miss Barton. Bills have also been introduced tendering the thanks of congress to several individual philanthropists and nurses, including Miss Gould, Miss Annie Wheeler, daughter of Gen. Wheeler; Miss Chanler, Miss Anna Bouligny and several others whose friends have interested themselves in their behalf. Miss Barton had the unusual distinction of being mentioned in the president's message.

In North Carolina.

The legislature of North Carolina is preparing a law to disfranchise the colored voters of that state, and the ingenuity of the democratic leaders is now being exercised to accomplish that purpose without interfering with the constitution of the United States. Several of them have been to Washington to confer with democratic leaders in congress, from whom they have received some valuable suggestions. Senator Caffery of Louisiana is the reputed author of a scheme which provides an educational test, but exempts from that test all voters whose "ancestors voted in any of the United States of the union prior to Jan. 1, 1867," when negro suffrage took effect. As no negroes voted prior to that date this exemption will enable the literate white men to vote and prohibit the illiterate negroes.

John Holden, who was shot by Newt Fiddle, near Wingo, Graves county, died from the injury.

MANILA LETTER.

A Hopkinsville Boy on the Other Side of the World.

A Continuation of the Letter Written From Honolulu Last Fall.

Manila Bay, Philippine Islands, Dec. 7th, '98.—EDITOR KENTUCKIAN: We left the port of Honolulu on 17th of Nov., we had a fine time during our four days there. Honolulu is strictly a religious city. All business houses close at 11 o'clock at night, and on Sunday.

It was a sight to us to see the natives come to town early in the morning with their train of pack mules and ponies loaded with bananas, oranges, pine apples, grapes, coconuts and wood. Each man would have 12 or 15 mules and ponies, one tied behind the other, and he would walk in front and lead them. We left town in the morning with two of the artillery boys, two of the cavalry. The Pennsylvania left Honolulu with the 51st Iowa boys on the 16th of Nov., and the New Port came in to port on the morning of Nov. 16th with Gen. Miller and Staff and part of 20th Kansas regiment.

It brought mail for us but it will not be opened till we get to Manila. Honolulu has a fine band of about 80 instruments. They came down to wharf and played about two hours for us. They played "Dixie" as we pulled out. There was a great crowd at the wharf to see us leave port.

We made a good impression on the people during our stay in Honolulu. The sea is quiet to night, but a few of the boys are sea sick again. They say we will make the trip to Manila in 16 days. Friday morning. Everything calm as can be, 12 or 15 boys still sick, we can't see a thing but water.

Our grub is getting pretty tough. Saturday—Everybody is having a big time playing games except the few who are sea sick. The sea has been calm all day. We expect to overtake the transport Penn about Monday as we are gaining about three knots an hour on her. I made a trade for three of us to get our meals from the cook of the ship from now until we get to Manila, and we expect to live high the balance of the trip. The ratios of the "chute" are getting awful tough, the beef is not fit to eat.

Monday—Yesterday was a fine day and the water smooth, and the nights are fine. Moon shines as bright as day. We have not seen anything of the Penn so far. We are getting plenty to eat now and just as good as we could want, get coffee, tea or chocolate and dessert like boarding at a hotel.

Wednesday—We passed over the meridian or international date line last night and so we gained a day, jumped from Monday to Wednesday, and some of the boys could not see how we could do that. The sea is not so smooth now.

Thursday 24th—The sea is rough and it looks like it is going to be worse, we are in sight of transport Penn and this is Thanksgiving day, we had a good dinner, had turkey and chicken and Lieut. Patton set up canned peaches to the Co., and of course I got my share. We passed the Penn to-night at 8 o'clock.

Sunday—This has been the roughest day during our voyage. It is impossible for a person to stand on his feet. Several waves washed over hurricane deck and several of the boys were scared, thinking the ship was going down, some put on life preservers, and some of the officers were about as badly scared as the boys. Two or three of the boys fell and hurt themselves, one boy fell and cut a gash in his head about four inches long, he is in the hospital now. Several times a lot of us were on deck and the ship would rock so that we would slide from one side, to the other and it would be all we could do to keep from going overboard.

Monday—Last night was worse than ever, we could not sleep. Some of the officers got up and put on life preservers and went around calling the other officers telling them the ship was going to sink.

We passed Byrds Islands this evening, and there was a large volcano on one of them in active eruption.

ion, we ran in about three miles of it and could see the lava running down the side.

Thursday—The engine broke down last night and we were standing for about three hours before they got it fixed, and it broke again about 5 o'clock this a.m., and they have just started again. we could see plenty of sharks while the ship was standing still, some of them looked to be eight or ten feet long. We tied a bone to a rope and dropped it out at back end of ship, could see 15 or 20 at once. They would cut an inch rope like they would a fishing line.

Thursday, Dec. 1st—The sea is smooth and we have been making good time, it is a hard matter for us to keep up with the days of the week and month on board ship, as one day is just the same as the other with us. I haven't stood guard since I left Honolulu. I got my share before I got there, was on three days out of six. I have been on detached duty with the U. S. Commissary Sergt, and we sell all kinds of canned goods and ginger ale from 10 to 12 o'clock every day. The Commissary Sergt. will be attached to some regiment when we get to Manila, and if it should be ours I think I will stay with him, as this job beats walking a post in a military manner. Saturday—Wednesday we signed pay roll to-day, we mustered yesterday. They say we will be paid off first thing after we get to Manila.

Sunday—Again we sighted the island of Legon this morning and we are now going through a straight between the Legon and Camiguin islands, on the left.

Monday, Dec. 5.—We came in sight of a vessel this morning but could not tell what it was. We will be in sight of land now until we get to Manila.

This is a fine morning Dec. 6th and we expect to reach Manila by 2 o'clock. The sea is calm and everything quiet.

The chief steward found out some way that the cooks had been feeding some of us, and he says he is going to make it warm for them. They had one of them before the Captain of ship this a.m., but let him off, will have the other one up to-morrow. We are now in Manila bay and in sight of Manila and Cavite. We are now anchored about a mile out in the bay from the city. We will have to stay on board of ship for about a week until they get camp ground fixed for us. Manila has no locks so we will have to unload our lighters.

There are 12 or 15 transports here around us and there must be 300 vessels. Dewey's fleet is at Cavite. There is an English man-of-war near us and also German and French vessels. Manila is a fine looking city from the bay. Two boys from the 14th regulars came to see us and they say that some of the outpost guards are killed nearly ever night around Manila.

They say we will have to go to fighting right away. Our captain lined us up this morning after they had talked with officers of 14th regulars and told us all they had learned about Manila. Natives came out to our ship with all kinds of fruits which was very cheap. The doctors on board made us a fine talk yesterday telling us how to do and what to eat to keep our health. They advised us not to eat fruit.

It is hot as can be here. The Pennsylvania got here easily this a.m. Dec. 7. The Newport got here with Gen. Miller and staff about noon. Dewey's flagship came over to Manila this morning. There have been lots of boys out to see us to-day. They are awful strict on them around the city. They shoot one every now and then for going to sleep while on his post. I am well, never felt better. Morris and Tandy are well.

LANNES H. HUGGINS,
Co. K, 1st Tenn., U. S. V.
Maj. P. I.

A move is on foot to consolidate the Zittel and Scarce pottery plants at Waco, near Richmond.

A man calling himself Robert Smith is in jail at Richmond for attempting to pass a forged check on two banks.

The boy who can't get a nickel from his father can always coax one out of his mother.

SCARVER:
J. T. Hall, city scavenger can be reached by telephone at any time Cell No. 151.

YOU don't need the doctor for every little trouble, but you do need in the house a trusty remedy for times of danger. Thousands are saved by having at hand

D. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm

a certain cure for disorders of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder. Use it alone for sore back, furred tongue, lost appetite and changes in urine or bowels. It is wise to be always ready for them. Sold by druggists, $1.00 a bottle.

THE DR. J. H. MCLEAN MEDICINE CO.
ST. LOUIS MO.

For sale by C. K. WIEY Druggist.

QUARTERLY REPORT OF THE

Pembroke Deposit Bank

(UNINCORPORATED)

At the close of business Dec. 31, 1898.

In Pembroke, Ky.

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts, less loans to Directors	$ 8,311.69
Bank to Directors, officers and in stock	8,311.69
Loans to Officers	3,686.10
Deposits subject to check on withdrawal	1,529.92
Due from State Banks and Bankers	1,939.00
Banking House and Lot	1,939.00
Other Stocks and Bonds	4,000.00
Specie	2,317.63
Other Items carried as Cash	3,831.15
Furniture and Fixtures	1,000.00
Total	$ 47,640.11

LIABILITIES.

Capital stock paid in cash	$ 30,000.00
Deposits subject to check on withdrawal	7,000.00
Due National Banks	1,529.92
Bankers	1,939.00
Bills re-discounted	5,000.00
Unpaid Dividends including 3% per cent. this day	312.50
Total	$ 87,640.11

STATE OF KENTUCKY, vs.
T. D. JAMESON, President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, located and doing business on Main street, in the town of Pembroke, in said county, being duly sworn, says that the foregoing report is in all respects a true statement of the condition of the said bank at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1898, to the best of his knowledge and belief; further says that the business of said bank has been transacted at the location named, and no place where; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State, designating the 31st day of December, 1898, as the day on which such report shall be made.

T. D. JAMESON, President.
ISAAC GARRETT, Director.
R. T. CHILTON, Director.

T. D. JAMESON, the 31st day of January, 1899. J. W. Cross, N. Y.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this day of January, 1899, by T. D. Jameson, the 31st day of January, 1899, J. W. Cross, N. Y.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this day of January, 1899, by T. D. Jameson, the 31st day of January, 1899, J. W. Cross, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MAGAZINE FOR 1899.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts, less loans to Directors (fees not included)	$ 10,419.89
Overdrafts unsecured	1,026.67
Loans to Officers	565.00
Overdrafts secured	295.66
Due from National Banks	565.57
Due from State Banks and Bankers	2,200.79
Companies	2,384.55
Banking House and Lot	1,500.00
Specie	3,396.73
Currency	2,831.00
Exchanges for Clearings	10 85 3 178.58

Governor Roosevelt's "The Rough Riders" (illustrated serial), and all his other war writings.

Robert Louis Stevenson's Letters (never before published), edited by Sidney Colvin.

Richard Harding Davis: Stories and special articles.

Rudyard Kipling, Henry Van Dyke, William Allen White and many others: Short stories.

George W. Cable's new serial story of New Orleans, "The Entomologist"—Illustrated by Herter.

Senator Hoar's Reminiscences—Illustrated.

Mrs. John Drew's Stage Reminiscences—Illustrated.

Joe Chandler Harris' new collection of Stories, "The Chronicles of Anna Minnery Ann."

Q's short serial, "A Ship of Stars."

Robert Grant's Search Light Letters—Common Sense Essays.

Sidney Lanier's Musical Impressions.

C. D. Gibson's "The Seven Ages of American Woman"—and other notable art features by other artists.

The full, illustrated prospectus, including descriptions of the above, sent free to any address.

The magazine is $3.00 a year: 25¢ a number.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS,
153 Fifth Ave., NEW YORK.

Hotel Latham, Hopkinsville, Ky.

This splendid new Hotel, beautifully finished throughout, heated by steam and equipped with electric lights and telephones, is now open for business. The table will be unusually good by that of any other house in the South.

J. R. CAROTHERS, President.

H. C. LOCKER, Director.

Ed R. BOGDAN, Director.

Henry M. MASSIE, Director.

Subscribed and sworn to before me by R. J. Carothers, President, 7th day of January, 1899.

Henry M. Massie, N. P. C. Co.

W. W. GRAY: TONSIL ARTISTS.

WEST SEVENTH STREET; OLD BUILDING.

Clean towels and everything first.

Give us a call.

WANTED—AN IDEA:

Who can think of something to patent? Protect your idea; then apply for a patent.

BURKE & CO., Patent Attorneys, Washington, D. C., for their $1,000 price offer.

LLOYD WHITLOW, Proprietor.

QUARTERLY REPORT

OF THE

Farmers and Merchants Bank

AT PEMBROKE, KY.

at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1898.

RESOURCES.

Loans and Discounts, less loans to Directors	$ 44,892.35
Overdrafts unsecured	121.71
Deposits from National Banks	1,000.00
Due from State Banks and Bankers	1,000.00
Specie	3,088.83
Currency	2,038.00
Exchanges for Clearings	813.60
Other items carried as Cash	591.00
Furniture and Fixtures	1,241.45

$65 242 77

LIABILITIES.

Capital Stock paid in, in cash	$ 15,000.00
Undivided profits	547.43
Deposits subject to check on which interest is not paid	1,230.74
Due National Banks	5.21
Bankers	16,511.39

$63 294 77

STATE OF KENTUCKY, vs.

C. D. JAMESON, President of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, located in the town of Pembroke in said county, being duly sworn, says that the foregoing report is in all respects

a true statement of the condition of the said bank at the close of business on the 31st day of December, 1898,

to the best of his knowledge and belief; further says that the business of said bank has been transac-

tioned at the location named, and no place where; and that the above report is made in compliance with an official notice received from the Secretary of State designating the 31st day of December, 1898, as the day on

COMPASS FALIBILITY.

The Possible Cause of the Loss of the Mohegan.

The very fact that the mariner's compass is above all things a super-sensitive instrument renders it peculiarly liable to those sudden and capricious changes of which many navigators can speak from experience and their sorrow.

The compass of to-day is perhaps as perfect a production as the highest scientific skill and the most delicate mechanical manipulation can attain, and yet, at a critical moment, by causes beyond human foresight, the vagaries of its readings may lead the most experienced seamen into bitter disaster.

JUST A CURTAIN FIRE.

Did Complicated Damage in a Girl's Boarding School.

A fire in a skyscraper may be thrilling, but for dramatic episodes and unexpected complications a fire in a girl's boarding school surpasses it. The boarding school fire is usually what is known among insurance men as a curtain fire, but a curtain fire in a girl's school is more exciting and causes more earnestness than an ordinary blaze anywhere else.

One evening last week two girls who occupy a microscopic hall bedroom in a swell uptown school, took the globes off the gas fixtures for hair-curling purposes and left them off, because it was easier to do that than to put them on again. Then the girls raised the window a trifle in order to cool the room, and dutifully sat down to write home letters. The inevitable happened, and when girl number one poised her pen in the air and glanced around the room in search of inspiration she saw the curtains in a blaze. She screamed. Girl number two looked around and echoed the scream. Then, with promptitude and discretion, both girls fainted. The screams had attracted the attention of the other girls, who rushed to the scene and then did various and sundry stunts, according to their several dispositions. One fainted, several wept, a few ran out of the house, and the rest shouted for the one man on the premises.

When he arrived things looked rather hopeless. Curtains and wood-work were blazing finely. The floor was littered with prostrate forms, and when three girls have fainted on the floor of a hall bedroom there isn't much space in the room for promenading. The man picked his way across the prostrate forms and ordered all the girls who were not in a dead faint to leave the room, but they didn't go until he lost his temper and spoke with a force which isn't common in boarding-school circles. Then they fled; but, unluckily, there was an enemy in the rear. A vigorous and practical young woman from Texas had been inspired to go after some water. Returning in mad haste with a large pitcher full of water bore triumphantly aloft she collided with the retreating forces at the door. The pitcher struck the leader of the retreat squarely in the face and knocked out two of her front teeth, whereupon the injured girl made the fainting trio a quartette and the water carrier dropped her pitcher and the water went into violent hysterics.

Hysteria, as boarding-school teachers know to their sorrow, is contagious, and the one case touched off the crowd. By the time teachers arrived upon the scene the fire was out, but the survivors were in a bad way. It was necessary to put nine-tenths of the school to bed and order wholesale doses of bromide. Even now the girls insist that they haven't recovered from the shock sufficiently to do hard studying; and the victims of the water pitcher are both under the care of trained nurses. As for the man, he gave up his place the next day and confined to the cook that he was going to look for a job in a lunatic asylum, where his boarding school experience would be of value to him. —N. Y. Sun.

Lions on the Increase.

In several letters received by the mail from East Central Africa mention is made, I am told, of the unusual number of lions that have made their appearance in the country.

One well-known hunter, whose experience of East Africa ranges over many years, says that these animals are a perfect terror, not a night passing without one or more of the brutes breaking into a Masai village and carrying off people or live stock. On one occasion recently a lion stalked into camp, and in spite of all that could be done, carried off a Swahili priest within a few feet of a bright watch fire, where there were men awake on guard. Massandil is otherwise described as a magnificent country, teeming with game of all kinds, and as healthy as can be for Europeans.—Birmingham Post.

In the British Museum.

The British museum contains the complete manuscript of Pope's "Iliad," and "Odyssey." Much of the copy is written on the backs of letters, and among them are epistles from Steele, Addison, Rowe, Young and other celebrities.

RICH LAND IN CHINA.

Manchuria Is a Country of Great Wealth and Opportunity.

Away on the extremely opposite end of earth from the great eastern continent, writes Capt. Young, bandit in the Nineteenth Century, is a country to which only too little attention has as yet been paid, and which, on account of its wealth, its favorable natural position, and the intelligence of its inhabitants, will attract to it a yearly increasing number of tourists.

The recent march of events has shown two rising powers pressing around Manchuria and threatening to contest its possession with the seemingly dormant Chinese.

If Manchuria were such a wretchedly poor country, as, for instance, Khiva, Merv and Turkistan, and others which have fallen to the lot of the Russians, comparatively little attention need be paid to the progress of events in that distant quarter of the world. It would matter but little to other European nations whether the Russians or Japanese did or did not take the country.

But Manchuria is no such desert country. It is, on the contrary, a country of exceeding richness, and of promise scarcely less than that of the Transvaal, and compared to which the whole of Central Africa from Uganda to Khartoum, is of trifling insignificance.

The Transvaal, and compared to which the whole of Central Africa from Uganda to Khartoum, is of trifling insignificance.

The timber alone in the vast virgin forests which clothe the hillsides over thousands of square miles must be worth many millions; for this timber is of the most valuable kind, and besides the ordinary pines, which are common all over the world, and which being fast-growing are easily replaced when cut down, there are immense quantities of hard timber of oak and elm and walnut—to replace which a century is required and the quantity of which in the world is rapidly diminishing.

Manchuria is equally rich in its production of cereals, and in the southern portion of such crops as indigo and tobacco.

Such being the climate, the nature of the country, its soil and productions, the inhabitants, as might be expected, are a strong, hardy, vigorous race, and from the glens of Manchuria have issued three successive waves of conquest which have overrun the whole of China. The numbers of the original inhabitants have been augmented by streams of immigration from China proper, and these, though slightly less robust than the original Manchus, are yet of good and sound physique. They are the very reverse of impulsive—cool, calculating, provident and so economical that not even the manure of the roads is allowed to be wasted, and the heat of the fire required for cooking purposes is carefully utilized by means of flues to warm the whole house.

Their industry is apparent in the east bestowed upon their fields. In the summer they work from dawn till sunset, with a brief interval for the midday meal, and in the winter they start hours before daybreak on their long carrying journeys. They are grave and little given to mirth, and the whole, law-abiding, amenable to control, and to the restraints of social life; if not particularly warm in their devotion to their children and to their parents, at any rate not absolutely callous, and though any active benevolence is very apparent, thereon, on the other hand, few symptoms of active malevolence. But the most important trait to notice is their strong conservatism. What was good enough for their fathers the present-day inhabitants think must be good enough for them. They are intelligent and quick to grasp simple ideas, but superstitious and ignorant of natural causation; very lacking in imagination with high powers of imitation, but no capacity for invention.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

Have a Limb Off.

People who use artificial limbs enjoy better health than they did before accident or disease compelled them to resort to amputation. This is the assertion of a noted artisan whose patients are all cripples.

A Texas Wonder.

Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame bones rheumatism and all kinds of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder trouble in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle in two months' treatment and will cure any case above mentioned.

E. W. HALL,
Sole manufacturer, P. O. box 218,
Waco, Texas.

For sale by T. D. Armistead, Hopkinton, Ky.

READ THIS.

Bartlett, Texas, Sept. 3 1896.—E. W. Hall, Waco, Texas: Deas Sir—

I have used your Great Discovery for kidney trouble, and can recommend it to anyone suffering in like manner.

R. W. THOMPSON,
Mayor of Bartlett.

To have what we want in riches, to have other men in power.

CASTORIA.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Signature of Chat H. Fletcher

A flattered is considered an enemy when he gets tired and quits.

To the Public.

We are authorized to guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be as represented and if the contents have been tampered with refund the money to the purchaser.

There is no better medicine made for a gripe, colds and whooping cough. Price 25 and 50c per bottle. Try it. For sale by R. C. HARDWICK, druggist.

Many a sealskin cloak is a sign that the wearer has seen better days.

This is Certainly A Wonderful Chance.

We are aware that our people who suffer from nervous, chronic or sexual complaints do not have the same opportunity to be cured as do the residents of the great cities where the most eminent physicians and specialists reside. Dr. G. H. Tower, Detroit, Mich., (P. O. Box 6), who has the largest practice in the world, and who without doubt has had the most successful experience curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases offers to give free consultation by mail to all sufferers. Write to him at once about your case. He will surely cure you.

The Doctor has just published a very instructive and interesting book entitled "Sexual Health and Marriage," that should be read by every man. He will send a copy free to anyone mentioning this paper and enclosing stamp for reply.

A man never gets so desperate that he doesn't care how tough medicinates.

CASTORIA.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Signature of Chat H. Fletcher

The average woman burns coal as if she were in business with the coal dealer.

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of the grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment.

Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. For sale by R. C. HARDWICK, druggist.

There never was a man in the world as great as a small boy thinks his Uncle Dick is.

All forms of serofila, sores, boils, pimplae and eruptions, are quickly and permanently cured by Hood's Sarapilla.

The average woman burns coal as if she were in business with the coal dealer.

No healthy person need fear any dangerous consequences from an attack of the grippe if properly treated. It is much the same as a severe cold and requires precisely the same treatment.

Remain quietly at home and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed for a severe cold and a prompt and complete recovery is sure to follow. For sale by R. C. HARDWICK, druggist.

Their industry is apparent in the east bestowed upon their fields. In the summer they work from dawn till sunset, with a brief interval for the midday meal, and in the winter they start hours before daybreak on their long carrying journeys. They are grave and little given to mirth, and the whole, law-abiding, amenable to control, and to the restraints of social life; if not particularly warm in their devotion to their children and to their parents, at any rate not absolutely callous, and though any active benevolence is very apparent, thereon, on the other hand, few symptoms of active malevolence. But the most important trait to notice is their strong conservatism. What was good enough for their fathers the present-day inhabitants think must be good enough for them. They are intelligent and quick to grasp simple ideas, but superstitious and ignorant of natural causation; very lacking in imagination with high powers of imitation, but no capacity for invention.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.

They all dress alike, and in the same way in which they have dressed for centuries past; there is no difference between one house and another, and even their carts are all of the same pattern. The rigid fixity of ideas is a concomitant of their strong conservative propensities. They have, as a rule, little regard for truth, but in business matters once their word is given it may be relied upon. Honesty is not a pronounced trait in their characters, nor are they remarkable for morality. And these defects must, therefore, be set against their striking industry and thrift. Their religion seldom shows itself, and has little effect upon their practical conduct. It produces in them none of that fanaticism which impels other races of Asia to deeds of war, and it imposes upon the people of Manchuria few of those restrictions as to what they may or may not eat or drink with which the people of India are so fettered.</

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

Published Tuesday and Friday Mornings

CHAS. M. MEACHAM.

• DESCRIPTION IN A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

Local reading notices to enter persons.
Special local & general insertion.

Rates for standard advertisements furnished on application.

OFFICE 2212 SOUTH MAIN STREET.

FRIDAY, JAN. 27, 1890—

Wheat has advanced 2½ cents this week, on the Chicago market.

February 6 has been appointed as the day for taking a vote on the Peace Treaty in the senate.

Geo. B. Foye, a Chicago drummer, has been arrested at Davenport, Ia., on a charge of having seven wives.

The prohibition fight in Trigg county will come to an end tomorrow. An election will be held all over the county.

Disquieting news continues to come from the Philippines and an open conflict with the natives is liable to occur at any time.

The Tennessee House, without a dissenting vote, passed a bill to limit the compensation of coal oil inspectors to $1,500 a year. At present, in Nashville and Memphis, the office is worth $10,000 a year.

In a decision in a Ballard county case, the Appellate Court held that a contract providing against the liability of a railroad for loss of goods transferred to another railroad is against public policy and therefore void.

John G. Gaines offers for sale a one-fourth, one-third or one-half interest in the Bowling Green Daily and weekly Times and job office. It is a well equipped office and is located in one of the best of the third-class cities of the State. Mr. Gaines offers a good thing to the right man.

Congressman Clardy certainly fought nobly in the war department for the release of our soldier boys from the police duty in Cuba. A number who failed to get out only missed it by applying to him to do so. The Second district never had a member of congress who served his constituents more faithfully than Dr. Clardy.—Owensboro Messenger.

John Shibley, representing Boston bankers, has received options on three writing paper mills in the Miami Valley, to go in a trust formed in Massachusetts with $45,000,000 capital. It will absorb forty writing paper mills of the country. Shibley secured options on the mills in Wisconsin and Michigan before he visited the Miami Valley district.

Sam Small, the noted evangelist, has filed a petition in bankruptcy at Washington. He says his object is to get a meeting of his creditors in order to get rid of certain debts hanging over him for which he is not responsible. One of these is a judgment in a libel case against a paper of which he was editor. The parties holding this judgment make a practice of following him up and attaching the proceeds of his lectures.—Owensboro Inquirer.

The Trigg county Telephone has resumed publication with a change of name. It is now called the Cadiz Record. The publishers explain that the change of name was made necessary by the establishment of other telephone offices in Cadiz, which caused much confusion in the mails and in other ways. The Record starts out with a new and well-equipped plant and we congratulate Messrs. Pike & Lawrence upon its neat typographical appearance.

State Senator William Goebel for many opened his campaign for Governor with a speech at Lebanon Monday. He declared for the Chicago platform in its entirety, and said he would not accept a nomination which did not carry with it a reaffirmation of that platform. He discussed State issues at length, defending the election law, denouncing trusts and corporate influences, favoring the McChord Railroad Bill and legislation against school book trusts and reviewing his political record at great length.

CONVENTION CALLED.

Will Meet in Hopkinsville, Wednesday, March 8.

Meeting of the Railroad District Committee at Paducah On the 25th.

The Democratic committee of the First Appellate District, composed of the Executive committee men from the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th and 11th districts, met at Paducah at 11 o'clock Jan. 25, pursuant to the call of the chairman, and called a convention to nominate a candidate for Railroad Commissioner.

There were present J. D. Mocquot, Chas. M. Meacham and G. W. Roark in person and Geo. S. Fulton and W. B. Dishman by proxy.

The committee organized with J. D. Mocquot as chairman and Chas. M. Meacham, secretary. The following official call was issued:

Convention March 8.

Resolved. That a District Convention shall be held in the First Railroad District of Kentucky on Wednesday, March 8, 1890, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Railroad Commissioner in said District.

Said convention shall meet in the city of Hopkinsville at 11 o'clock a.m. Delegates to said convention shall chose ten county mass conventions, to be held at the various county seats in the District at 2 o'clock p.m. on Saturday, March 4, 1890.

That the basis of representation from each county to the district convention shall be one delegate for every 200 votes and each fraction over 100 votes cast for the head of the Democratic electoral ticket at the Presidential election in 1890. That all known Democrats and others who will pledge themselves to support the nominee of said District convention shall be entitled to participate in the county conventions to select delegates.

J. D. Mocquot, chairman, Chas. M. Meacham, secretary.

NO PROSPECT OF A MOB.

Nothing New In The Devine Case

Trial of Defendants Set

For Friday.

Morganfield, Ky., Jan. 25.—There was no sensational development in the Devine case to-day. The girls have been in consultation with County Attorney Cinnamon all day, but no particulars further than those published to-day have been exaggerated beyond all recognition by some of the papers. To-day there is no prospect of a mob. The trial is set for next Friday. This afternoon the boys under arrest have been released. Their bond was fixed at $500 each.

Scribner's Magazine for February brings forward several more of its attractive features for 1890. It is not a "War Number," although it contains one of the most graphic things yet written about the war—the second instalment of Governor Roosevelt's serial on "The Rough Riders."

Senator George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, one of the oldest and most conspicuous of the members of Congress, begins his reminiscences of the political events of the past fifty years in this number. Senator Hoar has known all the great men of the period, and his keen appreciation of human nature and his kindly spirit have made him warm friends with many of them. These reminiscences are therefore intensely personal. Each instalment will stand alone, and the first deals with "Four National Conventions," in which the Senator was a conspicuous figure, and over one of which he presided. The paper contains a lot of the inside political history back of the nominations of Blaine, Garfield and Harrison.

State control of liquor has cost $80,000,000 over the expenses. Proprietor Nicholas has been too busy with his peace proposition to look after the barkeepers.

Croker says that "labor is not idle." About all the labor Croker is well acquainted with is that done by the golf caddies, polo horseback players, stable boys and ward workers.

Croker says that "labor is not

NEW SENATORS.

Legislators Elect in Five of the States.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 25.—Nathan Bay Scott, Republican, was elected United States Senator to-day in joint assembly. Scott received 48 votes, McGraw 46, Goff 1—necessary to elect 48. One seat in the Senate and one in the House were vacant.

Stewart Wins Again.

Carson, Nev., Jan. 25.—William M. Stewart was elected United States Senator yesterday on joint ballot, receiving nine votes in the Senate and fifteen in the Assembly. Newlands was not present for nomination.

Clark a Winner in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Jan. 25.—Promptly at noon yesterday each house of the Legislature voted for United States Senator to succeed Clarence D. Clark. But two nominations were made—Clark by the Republicans and Congressman J. E. Osborn by the Democrats. In the Senate 13 votes were cast for Clark and 5 for Osborn, and one absent. In the House Clark received 34 votes and Osborn 3, one absent. Total: Clark 47, Osborn 8.

Culberson Succeeds Tills.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 25.—The Senate and House of the Texas Legislature met at noon in their separate chambers. The Hon. Charles A. Culberson, the sole Democratic nominee, was elected without opposition to succeed retiring Senator Roger Q. Mills. Both houses will meet in joint session to-morrow at noon and ratify the ballot cast to-day.

Taylor, Breathitt Confirmed.

The Senate has confirmed these nominations: Peter S. Grosscup, of Illinois, United States Circuit Judge for the Seventh judicial district.

Postmasters—Kentucky: J. W. Breathitt, Hopkinsville; F. H. Brown, Elkhorn; M. J. Williams, Eminence.

Republican Succeeds Smith.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 25.—The two branches of the Legislature met in joint session to-day and President Reed, of the Senate, declared John Kean elected United States Senator for six years, beginning March 4, 1890.

"Bet that guy never monkeys with another woman" is the idea of the street-railway employés as to results in the grand avenue line shooting. Certainly the woman with a gun, bad as her marksmanship may be at times, is a most perilous person.

The rabbit hunters of Cape Girardeau County have none handsomely in their large contribution of food to the destitute poor of St. Louis. The prolific rabbit has been a vast aid to the profligate human race, though it is doubtful that the willing yields to the idea of the survival of the fittest.

An escaped Chicago murderer writes: "The Chicago police are lobsters and couldn't track a rabbit in the snow." They at least have failed to get one of their critics.

The present Wall street bull is the largest brute that has ever cavorted in that renowned thoroughfare.

The historic information that "Commodore" Perry died a mere Captain is startling. Let Congress make him an admiral at once.

Wool shows no sign of picking up and many fields of cotton are going unpicked.

The icy hand that the President extends to constant callers never chills our old friend Hanna.

$100 Reward Offered.

To the reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is a $100 reward offered for the return of a valuable silver cigarette case, and that it is Catraro's, Catraro, Que, the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catraro being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Catraro's Catraro Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous membranes of the system, and removing the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assuring nature in doing its work.

The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send list of testimonials.

Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists 75¢.

Hood's family Pills are the best.

Boils and Pimples

They Are Danger Signals, Meaning Impure Blood

All Such Eruptions Are Cured by Hood's Saraparilla:

"I suffered with boils and pimples and also had constant headache. After taking Hood's Saraparilla I was entirely relieved of these difficulties, and am now able to attend to my duties without feeling they are a burden. We have used Hood's Saraparilla for many years for this purpose."

Miss C. Vassar, Danville, Ky.

"It was broken all over with large red blisters, which itched and bothered me all the time. My sister recommended Hood's Saraparilla and Hood's Pills, and after I had taken these medicines a short time I was in better health than I had been for years and I am now cured."

Mr. W. D. MYERS, Bowling Green, Ky.

Hood's Saraparilla

Is the Best—in fact the True Blood Purifier

Sold by all druggists. Price, $1.50 for 50.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pills and digestives. 25c

75 cents for choice of the

J. B. Corsets.

KABS CORSETS.

All $1.50 styles go at $1.10
All $2.00 styles go at $1.25
All $2.25 styles go at $1.50
All $3 to 5.00 styles go at $2.00

75 cents for choice of the
J. B. Corsets.

KABS CORSETS.

75c for choice of 3 styles, worth $1.00
$1.50 for style No. 620 worth $2.00

THE GREAT DR. WARNER'S CORSETS.

70c for choice of 3 styles, worth 1.00
75c for choice of 5 styles, worth 1.25
1.00 for choice of 3 styles, worth 2.00
1.50 for choice of 5 styles, worth 2.00 & 2.25
1.75 for choice of 3.00 styles,
3.25 and 5.00 goods.

We have the cheapest makes from 21 cents up.

Cloaks and Underwear for balance of winter at Cost.

New Spring Goods Arriving Every Day.

Royal Dry Goods Co.

Wholesale and Retail.

N. Main street, Hopkinsville.

THE HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

Clothing.

Was never sold any cheaper under legitimate marks than can be now offered in "Men's, Girls' and children's dresses and over-ments will be sold at "Rock Bottom" prices.

THE HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

Underwear.

We are offering some immense bargains in Men's and Boys' Underwear.

A knowledge of prices will convince you.

THE HOPKINSVILLE MERCANTILE CO.

D.R. F. P. THOMAS

Office over Bank of Hopkinsville.

RESIDENCE—McPherson Place.

Telephone—Office No. 12. Residence No. 104.

PUBLIC SALE!

OF

50 HEAD JACKS AND JENNETS.

ON

February 1st, '99.

I will sell at public sale in HOPKINSVILLE, KY., 16 Jacks and 30 head of Jennets and colts, to the highest and best bidders, on a credit of 9 months.

14 of these Jacks are ready for service and are Jacks with white points, bred from the best stock, and by such sires as Silver Cloud, Napoleon, Diana and Dale, the great and famous Paragon Starlight; good size, and one of the best lots of stock ever offered on the market.

Any information cheerfully given and catalogue on application.

Hopkinsville is easily reached by railroad from all points.

W. A. KELLOGG, Ky.

A MODERN PARLOR

shows great progress in the manufacture of fine furniture in recent years. We keep up with all the latest styles and artistic designs in furniture for parlor, library, bed room, dining room and office, and our store is replete with beauty in all the latest and best designs in fine furniture, or the cheaper grades to suit all tastes and purases.

KITCHEN & WALLER,
301 South Main Street,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

WE RECEIVE
NEW CANNED GOODS,
OAT MEAL, OAT FLAKES,
CHEESE, PRUNES,
AND IN FACT

ALL KINDS NEW GOODS IN

WE SELL

7 BUSHEL BARREL SALT $1.00
7 BUSHEL BARREL SALT $1.20

BIG LINE OF QUEENSWARE,

TIN AND GLASSWARE,

CALL AND GET PRICES.

WE CAN SAY YOU MONEY.

Farmers Attention!

We have opened up a new Implement Store on Sixth street, one of the largest established in the Western Kentucky and are now prepared to furnish farmers with anything in the implement line. We handle the Celebrated Parry Buggies,

Phaetons and Surrays. Also carry a large assortment of PLOWS of every kind and make. We sell the Old Hickory Wagon, the best wagket to day. Engines and Separators,

When in the city give us a call and we will take great pleasure in showing you through respectfully,

Gus Young,

6TH STREET—
Near Court House Hopkinsville, Ky.

Wholesale and Retail GROCERS.

ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky..

"That the calls hereafter set forth are hereby adopted as indicating and establishing the exact and permanent grade of the track of The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company along its entire length in the city of Hopkinsville Kentucky. And The Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company is hereby notified that said track must not at any point in said city be raised above said present grade as herein established."

Said grade is as follows:

GRADE OF THE L. & N. R. R.

THROUGH THE CITY OF HOPKINSVILLE,
KY., MADE AUGUST 30th, 1898.

1ST STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 2 feet five-hundredths above the top of fire-plug corner 2nd and R. R. streets.

2ND STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 1 foot two hundredths, above the top of fire-plug corner 2nd and R. R. streets.

3RD STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 1 foot fifty-six-and a half hundredths above the top of fire-plug corner 2nd and R. R. streets.

4TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 5 feet twenty-two-hundredths, above the top of fire-plug, corner 4th and Clay streets.

5TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 4 feet four-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 5th and Clay streets.

6TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 4 feet twelve-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 6th and Clay streets.

7TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 3 feet ninety-six-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 7th and Clay streets.

8TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 7 feet thirty-seven-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 8th and Clay streets.

9TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 3 feet ten-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 9th and Clay streets.

10TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 2 feet seventy-three-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 10th and Clay streets.

11TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 2 feet twenty-two-hundredths above the top of fire-plug, corner 11th and Clay streets.

12TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 7 feet twenty-three-hundredths below top of fire-plug, corner 12th and Campbell streets.

13TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 10 feet two-hundredths below top of fire plug, corner 13th and Campbell streets.

14TH STREET CROSSING.

West rail of main track, stands 27-hundredths-part of ft, above top of fire plug, corner 14th and Clay streets.

West rail of East switch at 14th street crossing, stand 32-hundredths ft, above the top of fire-plug, corner 14th and Clay streets.

West rail of West switch at 14th street crossing, stands 36-hundredths ft, above the top of fire-plug, corner 14th and Clay streets.

Approved September 2, 1898.

F. W. DABNEY,

Attest: Mayor,

LUCIAN H. DAVIS,

City Clerk.

ORDINANCE.

Be it ordained by the Board of Council of the city of Hopkinsville, Ky..

"That any person, company or corporation who shall change the grade of any street, alley or sidewalk at any point, or change the grade of any street crossing in the city of Hopkinsville, as now established, or shall change the grade now established, of any Railroad track where same crosses any street, side-walk or alley, in the city of Hopkinsville, without the consent of the Board of Council of said city, shall be fined the sum of $50.00, and such person, company or corporation shall be fined $50.00 for each day such grade shall remain changed."

This ordinance to take effect from and after the date of its adoption and publication.

Approved January 6th, 1899.

F. W. DABNEY,

Attest: Mayor,

LUCIAN H. DAVIS,

City Clerk.

I'll Not Forget.

[DEDICATED TO AUTHOR OF "HOLLOW BRACKEN"] Let the years come swiftly on, bring what they may;

I'll not forget Love's honied time with you;

Though they bring strange peace and many tender days, Still will I dream of old delights as true.

Old delights, and magic loving hours,

When you and I strolled through the scented mist;

Of life's fair noon, and plucked the ruddy flowers,

And not one single wild bloom passed or missed.

Ah, that was life, and those were happy days,

We loved as men and women loved before;

We lived, and grappled Elysia's odorous May,

And kissed the lotus blooms along the shore.

Oh love, I do not fear the coming years,

For all I prized in life, I gave to thee;

Their little spiteful ills, and niggard joys.

Will fall before the scythe of enchanted memory.

We loved and yet to day we live apart,

Subdued and crushed by duty's stern behest;

We walk alone, each with a pain about the heart,

Nor hope to find new life, nor joy, nor rest.

Drifting, drifting, on the world's wide sweep;

Like sylvans shadows by some lonely way;

Or trooping clouds, above the dreaming deep.

That scurry with the ebbing tide of day.

BEATRICE CUNNINGHAM,

Cadiz, Ky.

Jan. 20, 1899.

Mules for Sale.

Car load of fine mules at Layne's stable for sale.

GRAVES OF PRESIDENTS.

List Showing Where Our Chief Magistrates Lie Buried.

George Washington's at Mount Vernon, Va.

John Adams' at Quincy, Mass.

Thomas Jefferson's at Monticello, near Charlottesville, Va.

James Madison's at Montpelier, Orange county, Va.

James Monroe's at Richmond, Va.

John Quincy Adams' at Quincy, Mass.

Andrew Jackson's at the Hermitage, 12 miles from Nashville, Tenn.

Martin Van Buren's at Kinderhook, N. Y.

William Henry Harrison's at North Bend, O.

John Tyler's at Richmond, Va.

James K. Polk's at Nashville, Tenn.

Zachary Taylor's at Louisville, Ky.

Millard Fillmore's at Buffalo, N. Y.

Franklin Pierce's at Concord, N. H.

James Buchanan's at Lancaster, Pa.

Abraham Lincoln's at Springfield, Ill.

Andrew Johnson's at Greenville, Tenn.

U. S. Grant's at Riverside, New York City.

Rutherford B. Hayes' at Fremont, O.

James A. Garfield's at Cleveland, O.

Chester A. Arthur's at Albany, N. Y.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Where They Might Be Needed.

The marquis of Anglesey, who died not long ago, at one time ordered sent from London to one of his country homes a large quantity of hand garments for use in case of fire. The servants hung them all over the house, but had laid a dozen left over. "What shall I do with them, my lord?" asked the butler. The titled brougham pondered for a moment, and then said: "You may put them in my coffin."

Ayer's Hair Vigor

What does it do? It makes the hair soft and glossy, precisely as nature intended. It removes the scalp from dandruff and thus removes one of the great causes of baldness. It makes a better circulation in the scalp and stops the hair from coming out. And it restores color to gray or white hair.

$1.00 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

It Prevents and It Cures Baldness

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the vigor, write the Doctor at Lowell, Mass.

Address, DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

LIFE'S IRONIES.

Chapter of Accidents—It Is the Unexpected That Happens.

The vicissitudes which beset mankind are sometimes strange even beyond the wildest flight of imagination, and hardly a day passes without the world being afforded examples of the ironies of fate.

At Deventer, Holland, in the province of Overijssel, there dwells Dr. Cox, a literary man, who recently brought out a pamphlet advocating complete equality between men and women. His house has just been broken into, and the burglars were traced and arrested; they turned out to be two young girls.

Lord Delamere recently returned from big game hunting in Africa, where he went through hairbreadth escapes without a scratch. Quite lately, however, fate turned its attention toward him. While his lordship was out hunting his horse, in endeavoring to jump a fence, stumbled and threw the rider, injuring his back and neck. Was it not the height of irony that his lordship should face all the dangers and terrors of wild life in Africa, and then get hurt in the prosaic manner here chronicled?

It reminds one of a certain general, a few years back, who had just been through a severe campaign free from harm. The third day after his return to London he was about to cross the street when he missed his footing as he stepped from the pavement, slipped and broke his leg, the climax being that he died.

The accident to the Scotch express some while back afforded a good specimen of the little ironies of life. A young lady, hastening homeward by the express to the funeral of her father, was herself one of the killed in the train smashed. So that, instead of being a mourner of her parent, she became an occupant of the same tomb at the same time.

In the museum at Cape Town is shown an old-fashioned high-backed wooden chair, in connection with which there is a weird story. It is related that the chair is the one in which the Dutch governor, De Noorde, was found sitting dead a few moments after execution of a soldier whom he had sentenced to be hanged, and who on his doom being pronounced solemnly called upon his condemner to accompany him to "the throne of the Supreme Judge."

Sir Robert Meade, late colonial permanent under secretary, had married twice, and both wives died suddenly. Then Sir Robert fell and broke one of his legs while getting into an omnibus in Whitehall. His daughter nursed him back to a measure of strength, and then he signed his official post, which was almost immediately followed by the death of his daughter. This was the last drop in his cup of affliction, and he himself died shortly afterward.

Not long since a stowaway was found dead under the main hatch of one of the National line steamers. He had concealed himself before the steamer left Liverpool, and was suffocated. In the dead boy's pocket was found a boy's story, entitled "Doomed on the Deep."—London Mail.

First Lapland Newspaper.

A decided novelty in the way of newspaper enterprise is announced from Lapland. The first paper in that country has appeared. It is written upon a single sheet of paper and is published every Sunday at a town with an unpronounceable name. Up to the present the journal has only half a dozen subscribers, and every issue is welcomed with loud applause.

Sultan's Fortune in Jewels.

The estimated value of the sultan's jewels is $40,000,000. In his majesty has only hobby at all it may be said to be the purchasing of jewels and visiting private theatricals. No professional or noted career, either as a statesman or as a soldier, has he ever pursued excepting a short time in the British army.

He always pays for these performances in Bank of England notes.

Got Mixed at the Wedding.

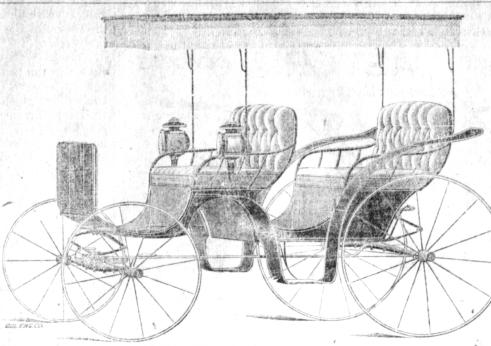

During the present century seven instances have been recorded in the British Isles in which the bride has married the best man by mistake.

We Have Never NOR HAS ANYONE ELSE

ever offered the people of this community such values in Buggies and Carriages as we are now giving. One Fifth Off Means

FROM

$12 to $25 Reduction on Each Vehicle.

WALKING IS BAD. RIDING IS CHEAP.

This offer will only hold good for the month of December. You cannot afford to miss this golden opportunity to buy a

Buggy, Surrey, Phaeton or Jump Seat

at less money than they were ever offered you. Remember 20 per cent off HARNESS too!!

FORBES & BROTHER

What Shall Be Done

FOR THE DELICATE GIRL

You have tried iron and other tonics. But she keeps pale and thin. Her sallow complexion worries you. Perhaps she has a little hacking cough also. Her head aches; and she cannot study. Give her Scott's Emulsion.

The oil will feed her wasting body; the glycerine will soothe her cough, and the hypophosphites will give new power and vigor to her nerves and brain.

Never say you "cannot take cod-liver oil" until you have tried Scott's Emulsion. You will be obliged to change your opinion at once. Children especially become very fond of it; and infants do not know when it is added to their food.

pecs. and $1.00; all druggists.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, New York.

Great Record Breaking Sale

Of the Moayon Big Sale is now on.

Goods are being sold at half the regular price, nothing in our stock excepted.

Our entire stock

Must be sold
By February 1.

We do this in order to make room for our large and mammoth spring stock. So come, look and help us make room by buying what you need.

CLARENCE HARRIS

(Formerly with Forbes & Bro.)

PAINTER and

PAPER HANGER.

Paper hanging a specialty.

All work guaranteed.

Send orders at Gus Young's,

Telephone 512 rings.

Moayon's Big Store.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Makes the food more delicious and wholesome

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

The Weather.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 26.—(Special)—Generally fair to-night and Friday cold wave.

HERE AND THERE.

Dr. E. N. Fruitt, Dentist, office over City Bank, Hopkinsville, Ky.

Anderson & Fowler have opened their new drug store, cor. 7th & Va. streets.

Courier-Journal on sale at Anderson's & Fowler's.

If you have a nice dress to have made, take it to Miss Kennedy on 9th St.

Miss Kennedy's dressmaking always gives satisfaction. Give her a call on 9th St.

Prescriptions filled both day and night at Anderson & Fowler's.

Gish & Garner's Wild Goose Liniment cures rheumatism and neuralgia. It touches the sore. At all drug-gists' 11-6.

In town call and inspect our new stock of druggist's sundries. We carry in stock just what you want at the lowest prices.

ANDERSON & FOWLER

The work done at Miss Mollie Kennedy's dress-making establishment first class in every respect.

Call and see our new store in corner room Hotel Lexington. We have a complete line of pure, fresh drugs, fine cigars, toilet, stationery, etc.

ANDERSON & FOWLER

Desirable dwelling on South Virginia street—large yard, garden or lawn and grass lot. Rent $189.

W. W. WARE

Ladies, if you want your dress made in the latest style, take it to Miss Mollie Kennedy No. 20 Ninth street, up stairs.

ASK FOR our prices on Watches, Jewelry and Clothing goods. Don't buy until you get our prices.

R. C. HARDWICK

The L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to Mobile, Birmingham, and New Orleans at one fare Feb. 7th to 13th, both-day inclusive, account Mardi Gras, going returning until and on Feb. 28th.

J. M. ADAMS, Agent.

Get the "Swing Magazine" Needles at M. D. Neely's, No. 8 North Main street, between Henderson's and Cooper's Drug Stores, nearly opposite the Court House.

Attorney Geo. F. Campbell has moved his office to the former formerly occupied by Judge McCarron, on Weber street.

Account Bostonians, the L. & N. will sell round-trip tickets to Nashville at one and one third fare, Jan. 28th, good returning until and on Jan. 30th.

J. M. ADAMS, Agent.

Mr. Ford L. Wilkerson has moved into the office of Mr. John Feland, Jr., and they will office together.

Have your clothes made, cleaned and repaired by Joe N. Fowright, Merchant Tailor, W. 7th street, opp. New Era office. The second largest tailoring business in town is given practical tailoring to your taste.

For Sale.

6 fresh mutton, $1.50; $1.00; $50. M. A. MASON, 10th Square, Ky.

Throwing Shoes After a Bride.

The custom of throwing old shoes and rice has prevailed for many years in America, England and Scotland. It came from the Eastern nations, and was originally intended as a sign of relinquishment by the relatives of their authority over the bride.

An old Jewish custom provided that a brother of a childless man had the first privilege of marrying the widow, and until her brother-in-law refused her she could not marry again. Another authority maintains that the throwing of the shoe was a sham assault on the groom, who was supposed to be carrying off the bride.

We Want at Once

A reliable man to sell our Blue Poplin brand of Liniment, Oils and Glycerine and big-grade Talc, Cerate, M. & M. Supplies. Will make liberal arrangements and give steady employment to the right man.

PERSONAL GOSSIP.

QUEER WEDDINGS.

TWO CALDWELL COUNTY COUPLES ENTER INTO ALLIANCES.

Monday Squire Mayes tied two of the most tangled matrimonial knots we have heard of, says the Princeton Republican. John Hubbard was married to Allie Lamb, the sister of his divorced wife, who was married at the same time to Ed Riley. Riley's wife was also a divorced woman.

All the parties came to town together in a wagon, and after the ceremony Hubbard assisted his new wife to a reserved spring seat in the front of the wagon, and his former wife, Mrs. Riley, to a seat in the rear end of the vehicle, after which he also helped Riley, who was overcome with emotion, into the wagon. The much wedded parties then drove to their country residences, where they no doubt ended themselves in a large manner.

WOOD-ROGERS.

CERULEAN COUPLE MARRIED BY JUDGE CANSLER WEDNESDAY.

Mr. Collins B. Wood and Miss Dolly Rogers, both of the Cerulean Springs neighborhood, were married in the County Clerk's office Wednesday morning by Judge Cansler.

The couple returned home the same afternoon. The bride is a daughter of Mr. J. M. Wood.

MARRIED BY JUDGE CANSLER.

SOUTH CHRISTIAN COUPLE WED IN THE COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

Mr. Charles B. Nelson, a young South Christian farmer, and Mrs. Minnie Huffman, of near Beverly, were married in the County Clerk's office at 1:30 o'clock p. m., yesterday. The couple returned home the same afternoon. The bride is a daughter of Mr. J. M. Wood.

GOOD SALES

AND SATISFACTORY PRICES PREVAILED THROUGHOUT THIS WEEK.

The sales of tobacco this week were considerably larger than those of last and prices were unchanged. Receipts have been fairly good and will continue to improve, as much of the weed has been prepared for prizing. Nearly all of the '97 stock has been sold and the sales in future will be made principally of the '98 crop.

The loose market is still active.

HOPKINSVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

Sales by Gaither & West of 50 hds. new tobacco as follows:

23 hds. medium leaf—$7.80. 7 10. 7 20. 7 60. 6 80. 6 75. 7 00. 7 20. 7 30.

7 60. 6 90. 7 10. 6 90. 7 00. 6 75. 7 30. 5 70. 6 80. 6 75. 6 90. 7 50. 7 5.

24 hds. common leaf $6.00. 6 70. 6 50. 6 20. 6 80. 6 10. 6 30. 6 40. 6 25.

5 50. 5 50. 5 40. 5 80. 5 70. 4 50. 6 90.

6 60. 6 50. 5 90. 6 00. 5 95. 5 30. 5 90.

23 hds. lugs—$3.25. 2 20. 2 20.

Market active at last week's prices.

Hanberry & Shryer sold 8 hds. as follows:

6 hds. common leaf $5.25. 6.16.

5.95. 5.90. 2.25.

2 hds. lugs $3.55. 2.50.

Market strong and active on above grades.

Sales by Ragsdale, Cooper & Co., Wednesday, Jan. 25th, 1899.

47 Medium to Common leaf, 8.00.

8.00. 7.90. 7.40. 7.30. 7.40. 7.40. 7.25.

7.20. 7.10. 7.25. 7.00. 7.00. 7.00.

7.00. 7.10. 6.90. 6.90. 6.80. 6.70. 6.60.

6.75. 6.75. 6.75. 6.80. 6.80. 6.80. 6.20.

6.10. 6.00. 6.00. 5.95. 5.90. 5.90. 5.90.

6.00. 5.00. 5.10. 6.70. 6.50. 7.50. 6.80.

7.40. 7.30. 6.00.

7 Lugs. 2.00. 2.10. 2.20. 3.00. 3.00.

The cost of keeping the whole of Europe on a military and naval footing works out at considerable over £12,000,000. The navy and army of Russia costs at present over £31,000,000 annually. Great Britain, without colonies or dependencies, £38,500,000; France, £37,000,000, and Germany, £26,500,000. The revenue of Russia is £17,000,000; France, £137,500,000; Great Britain, £103,000,000, and Germany, £64,250,000, with populations of 124,000,000, 39,300,000, 38,000,000, and 39,500,000 respectively.

Cost of Armed Peace.

The cost of keeping the whole of Europe on a military and naval footing works out at considerable over

£12,000,000. The navy and army of Russia costs at present over £31,000,

000 annually. Great Britain,

without colonies or dependencies,

£38,500,000; France, £37,000,000,

and Germany, £26,500,000. The revenue of Russia is £17,000,000;

France, £137,500,000; Great Britain,

£103,000,000, and Germany, £64,250,

000, with populations of 124,000,000,

39,300,000, 38,000,000, and 39,500,

000 respectively.

How He Writes.

Anthony Trollope wrote standing straight as a post to a high desk, his wrist before him, beginning always at a certain minute, and ending with the signature.

RAGSDALE, COOPER & CO.

Established Financial Agents.

Died of Fever.

Glasgow Watt, the 12-year-old daughter of Alex Watt, of Brewer's

THE TURKISH MASSACRES.

Some of the Awful Scenes Recently Enacted in Armenia.

You would see only a small knot of people, say 20, perhaps a flourish of wooden clubs in the air, say Charles Roberts in the Atlantic. Then the mob would move on, leaving the body of a dead Armenian behind. This was massacre. Not a sound suggested the horrible business afoot. The shops were closed as if for a holiday; people, men and women, evidently all Turks, were quickly moving about the streets. The stillness of it seemed to me the most appalling part. One soon grew hardened to the sight of dead men. One came to collect that venerable Ulemas, the ascetic young Softas, on their way from mosque to mosque, would kick the mangled bodies which blocked their paths, and curse them for dogs of Armenians. Trailed in pools of blood in the streets, in some places actually dripping and trickling downhill, came in time, after you had stepped over and around a hundred of them, to remind you of some early visit to a slaughter house. Animal blood all seems the same; it was hard to realize that this had run in human veins.

Thursday night the killing continued; so, also, all night long, the rattle of the death carts through the streets carrying the dead to the burning trenches. Not until Friday night did the continual pressure of the ambassadors force the government to issue orders to the soldiers to fire on any mobs seen. Then the massacre came promptly to an end. A visit made on Saturday morning to the Armenian cemetery at Chelili gave the best idea of the awful extent of the deadly work. Here the American and Belgian ministers estimated that they saw from 1,500 to 2,000 bodies, laid out in long lines, awaiting the completion of the trenches. Many of them had been lying in the hot sun since Wednesday, and were so swollen that their arms and legs were thrust up stark and stiff into the air.

Armenians were killed because they were conspiring against the holy government; and they were permitted to be killed because that same holy government did not dare to add to its well-established unpopularity by interfering with its infuriated subjects. Undoubtedly the priesthood had much to do with inciting the murderers.

PADEREWSKI AS A STUDENT.

Had Won Fame as a Virtuous, Then Beggar All Over Again.

When Paderewski came to Leopoldskiy, in Vienna, some ten years ago, it was as a concert performer who had already achieved success in Russia and mastered an extensive repertoire," writes Cleveland Moffett, in the Ladies' Home Journal." Leopoldskiy heard him play for awhile and then said: "You have some very bad faults, but you have talent. You have played too many things, and nothing well enough. Your wrist is hard and stiff. If you come to me you must forget for six months that you have a repertoire; you must play nothing but exercises for technique, six hours a day of exercises, and nothing else."

Paderewski thought the master over and decided that he had the strength of will for this severe test, and put himself entirely in Leopoldskiy's hands. All day long for six months this finished concert performer worked away at the mechanics of piano playing, at exercises specially devised for him by Leopoldskiy, and those devised by himself with reference to peculiarities of his own hands. Every evening he took a lesson at the professor's house, this being a mark of special favor, for with ordinary pupils all lessons end at five in the afternoon, and one lesson in two weeks is the best that even the most proficient may attain. One hour, two hours, three hours, these nightly lessons lasted, for Leopoldskiy gives no heed to time once his serious interest is aroused. These two men were together constantly; they took long walks; they played hard-fought games of billiards, both being adepts at the game; they talked incessantly, for Leopoldskiy has a fluent tongue, and what the older man knew of the sounding art he gave freely to the younger man, and that the disciple has given to the world."

The Countess Schimmelmann, whose portrait is here given, in a recent letter to the Wells & Richardson Company speaks of friends of hers who have been benefited by Paderewski's celery compound, and who first advised her to recommend it to her sick friends.

The Countess, as is well known, is a prominent member of the Danish court. Her coming to this country has been much talked of. Her sick health has been much talked of. Her